Three Arkansans Are Indicted on Charge of Bribery

Suspended Pulaski Judge and Two Others Named in Indictments

BONDS ARE POSTED

Alleged Efforts to Beat McCabe Bill After It Was Passed Basis

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—W. F. Sibcock, suspended Pulaski county judge, Wallace Davis, Little Rock attorney, and Dr. L. L. Marshall were indicted by the Pulaski county grand jury late Tuesday on charges of conspiring to bribe in connection with alleged efforts to obtain defeat of the McCabe bill after it had been passed by the last regular session of the legislature. After the indictment had been returned, Dr. Marshall and Davis posted bond of $3,000. Sibcock's bond of $3,000, posted on charges of irregularities in office, was allowed to stand. The indictment Tuesday charged that at the suggestion of Davis, Sibcock procured $10,000 which the three agreed should be paid Governor Parnell to influence him to veto the bill. Sibcock, the bill alleged, delivered the money to Dr. Marshall to be paid the governor. The indictment said, however, that the money never was delivered to the governor. Last March 10 was the date named on which the conspiracy occurred.

Introduced by McCabe

Introduced by the late Representative W. U. McCabe, of Baxter county, the McCabe bill proposed that distribution of the county highway turn-back be changed to give smaller counties a larger share. It was opposed by the larger counties. The bill passed both houses of the legislature, but was vetoed by Governor Parnell after the general assembly adjourned.

The alleged legislative slush fund had been investigated by a previous grand jury and dismissals were returned against the three indicted Tuesday.

Among the witnesses summoned before the previous investigating body were Governor Parnell and his private secretary, Guy A. Freeling. Both emphatically denied any knowledge of the alleged conspiracy.

Witnesses who testified before the grand jury Tuesday included Justin Matthews, member of the state highway commission, R. A. Cook, former Pulaski county sheriff, Lloyd Judd, Little Rock business man, C. B. Rankin, employee of a Little Rock filling station which figured in a recent investigation of Pulaski county affairs and J. G. Windsor, representative from the state comptroller's office who was in charge of the Pulaski county audit last summer.

Train Wreck Laid to Deliberate Plot

Engineer and Louisiana Youth Killed When Limited Hits Open Switch

SHREVEPORT, La.—(P)—Bloodhounds were called Monday to pick up the scent of train wreckers who Monday night fouled the switch of the Texas and Pacific line at Hutchinson spur, 18 miles south of here, and derailed the "Louisiana Limited" passenger train, killing two persons and injuring seven.

The dead were J. W. Gorman, 55, of Alexandria, La., the engineer, and S. P. Sutton, Jr., 21, Arcadia High School football star, "bumming" his way to Abbeville, La., to work in the sugar cane fields.

R. L. Whitman, superintendent of the state Bureau of Identification at Shreveport, and railroad officers agreed that the switch had been tampered with in a deliberate effort to wreck the train. The hinge bolt had been removed from the switch and a wooden bolt replaced to keep the signal light clear while the switch was thrown.

144 Prisoners Paroled by State Pardon Board

DeQueen Christians Have Homecoming Day

DEQUEEN, Ark.—Many weeks of preparation made the fourth annual homecoming at the First Christian church of DeQueen last Sunday the greatest ever held at the church. Invitations were sent to almost every state. Many former members of the church attended, and messages from others unable to attend were read at the night services.

The program commenced with the Bible school at 9:45 a. m. and concluded with the night services. The sermon by Rev. G. W. Carlisle at the morning services was "Who Is My God?" and for the night services, "Where Is My Home?" Special talks, quartets, and music were given by members. Dinner was served in the church parlors.

Farmer Victim of Mistaken Identity

White County Man Has One Eye Removed and May Lose Other

HOT SPRINGS.—Plaz Jones, aged about 45, residing near Searcy, White county, was the unfortunate victim of a shooting affray that took place near Searcy Monday, the result of mistaken identity, he said here Tuesday. Jones is in the Army-Navy General hospital, his left eye destroyed and the sight practically gone from his right eye which also may have to be removed. Jones told officials of the hospital that three of his neighbors had a quarrel and that while he was walking down a road leading to his home, one of the trio, who had been hiding behind a tree, mistook him for one of the other two and opened fire with a shotgun loaded with No. 2 shot. Five shot entered the left eye and two pierced the right eye. Ten other shots entered Jones' face and neck. He was brought to the Army-Navy hospital by a man named Huber, friend of Jones.

An army surgeon removed Jones' left eye, and it was said that it could not be determined for the present whether Jones would lose his right eye.

Largest Number Ever to Be Freed at One Meeting of Body

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—The State Parole Board Wednesday granted 144 Christmas paroles, the largest amount of prisoners ever freed at a meeting of the board. Less than two weeks ago the board granted 54 paroles.

Among those freed Wednesday was Wallace Fulton, Hot Spring county, leader of a bandit gang which terrorized motorists on the Hot Springs-Arkadelphia highway during the winter of 1928-27.

W. R. Atkins Fails to Arrive at 'Pen'

McCaskill Man Still Unheard From at 3:15 P. M. Wednesday

William R. Atkins, convicted McCaskill banker, was still unheard from at the Arkansas State Penitentiary at 3:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the Associated Press advised Hope Star. Atkins was scheduled to begin serving a four-year term for fraud on Saturday, December 12. His attorney, George R. Haynie of Camden, announced Saturday that Atkins would appear at the penitentiary Monday.

He failed to show up, however, and Mr. Haynie issued a second statement Monday that his client had been delayed owing to damage to his property in the cyclone at Camden Sunday, and because of the bad condition of the public highways to Little Rock. The attorney said Atkins would arrive at the penitentiary either Tuesday or Wednesday.

Hope Star has asked the Associated Press to make a daily check at "the walls" until Atkins finally arrives.

Negro Accused of Slaying Attorney

Witnesses Tell Story of Shooting of Former Tennessean

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Two witnesses testified Tuesday that Joseph H. Diggs, negro, shot Capt. William F. Norman, attorney, in the back and then fired two more shots at him as Norman lay prostrate. Diggs, former doorman at the Wardman Park hotel is on trial charged with first degree murder.

Norman's chauffeur, Enoch Craig, negro, said he watched Diggs approach his employer from behind and open fire, August 12. William Pearson, taxicab driver, corroborated Craig's testimony and said Norman begged Diggs not to shoot him again after the first two shots were fired. The answer, Pearson testified, was two more shots as Norman lay writhing on the walk in front of the fashionable hotel.

Craig said he heard Diggs say, "I knew I'd get you," as the lawyer, former special assistant to the attorney general, toppled. Norman came to Washington from Chattanooga, Tenn. Several days before the shooting, Craig said, Norman had an altercation with the negro over a parking space. Norman contended that he should be allowed to keep his automobile in a parking space which Diggs said should be kept free for incoming guests.

Member of Sam Day Jury Stricken With Pneumonia Last Friday

TEXARKANA.—(P)—Will Thomas, 33, died Wednesday, a martyr to jury service.

He had been fighting bilateral pneumonia since last Friday when he and eleven others sentenced Sam Day 20 to life imprisonment for the murder of Sheriff Walter Harris.

The verdict was given court officials in a boarding house room occupied by Thomas. He is survived by his widow and two children.

Urge Governors of Georgia, Oklahoma to Call Special Session

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—(P)—Steps to influence adoption of cotton limitation acreage in four more Southern States, with a view of taking 4,000,000 bales additional of the crop from the market, were taken here Tuesday by the Southern Cotton Executive Committee.

Before the meeting it was announced that in addition to 7,000,000 bales taken from the market by bankers, co-operative associations and the Farm Board, that President Hoover had given assurance that he would aid in taking 4,000,000 more bales off the market to improve its tone.

The last 4,000,000 bales would be taken only if Southern states in which 75 per cent of the crop is grown would enact legislation to reduce the crops in 1932 and 1933 to 50 per cent of the 1911 production, spokesmen before the conference said.

Committees were named to confer with Gov. Richard B. Russell of Georgia and Gov. William F. Murray of Oklahoma relative to calling the legislatures of those states into session to enact the legislation similar to that passed in Texas, Arkansas and Mississippi.

Woodruff Farmer Slashed Severely

L. Ross in Critical Condition Following Fight With Neighbor

MCCORY.—Lonnie Ross, farmer living about three miles from McCorry, was in a critical condition at his home Tuesday night with knife wounds in the breast, arm and back. Preston Rody, who lives on a farm adjoining that of Ross, was arrested charged with cutting Ross. He was released on $1,000 bond.

Rody, who was said to have been indebted to Ross, was preparing to remove from the farm. Ross demanded a settlement and an argument arose, officers were called.

Frame Building For Courthouse

Temporary Structure Will Replace That Destroyed by Tornado

CAMDEN.—Frame buildings will be erected on the courthouse square adjoining the wrecked courthouse for county officials, County Judge Watt Jordan announced Tuesday afternoon after abandoning plans for leasing a building downtown. Court records in the vaults will be needed and the county officers wish to be close to the courthouse for this. Workmen started erecting the frame structures Tuesday afternoon.

Judge Jordan said the county had about $15,000 tornado insurance, but he would have to wait until he examined papers in the vault to ascertain the exact amount. Architects conferred with him regarding a new building. Chancery Court will open Wednesday at the city hall.

A building committee, composed of J. D. Reynolds, J. P. Wright, J. W. Holliman, R. L. Shirey, Ben Laney and H. H. Griffin, was appointed by the Board of Stewards of the First Methodist church Monday night to handle all insurance adjustments and make preliminary building plans. Insurance totaled $25,000 on the church. A new church will be built.

Relief work will be turned over to the local chapter of the Red Cross, it was decided at a meeting of United Charities and Red Cross workers following a conference with F. A. Winfrey of the national Red Cross headquarters, St. Louis. Miss Gathryn Monroe, field worker, will be here. A drive for funds was started. Many families are destitute as result of the tornado. Over 50 families lost all their belongings.

Rebuilding work is in full swing. All business houses have reopened. A cold wave added to the discomfort of storm victims when the temperature dropped to 28 degrees for the coldest day of the year. The Ouachita river stood at 25.3 feet and a crest of 26 feet is expected Wednesday. Flood stage is 30 feet.

Oil Well Fire Under Control at Kilgore

Threatens Part of Town Before Blaze Finally Conquered

KILGORE, Tex.—(P)—Fire broke out at the John W. Rafter Refining company number one Prothro well Tuesday and six hours were required to extinguish it.

The oil well is located in the negro residential section of Kilgore. Negroes fled with their household goods as the flames threatened to envelop the entire well.

Sparks from under a negro woman's washtub ignited a leak on the master gate of the well which had just been completed and turned into the tanks. The wood derrick caught fire and fell on a house. The fire was burning about 15 barrels an hour from the leak. It threatened to melt connections which would have meant the well would have burst into full flame.

Three hundred pounds pressure behind chemicals finally extinguished the blaze.

Purchase of State Forests Approved

More Than 12,000 Acres in Arkansas Acquired by Government

WASHINGTON.—Purchase of more than 12,000 acres for Arkansas national forests has been approved by the National Forest Reservation Commission meeting here.

A total of 8,117 acres was acquired by the government in the Ouachita forest area at a cost of $25,285 and 4,386 acres in the Ozark forest area at a cost of $12,785.

All equipment, including a large library, was destroyed. More than 100 trophy cups, won by students in literary and athletic contests were lost. The old bell, in use about 50 years, went through its third fire. All school records were destroyed.

Mr. Walls said that the Lonoke School District was one of the few in the state to operate within its revenue and that it is free of debt, except for current expenses. J. J. Doane is superintendent of the Lonoke schools.

Cotton Ginnings in McCurtain Increase

IDABEL, Okla.—The government cotton report shows there were 24,367 bales of cotton ginned in McCurtain county from the crop of 1931 prior to December 1, as compared with 16,310 bales ginned to December 1, 1930.

Applause Is Given Written Laudation of Administration

Republican Committee to Meet in Chicago on June 14

HOOVER ONLY WAY

Says President Recognized as Leader of World Recovery

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Secretary Hurley Wednesday turned the final session of the Republican National Committee into a rousing rally for the re-election of President Hoover.

Deviating now and then from a prepared laudation of the administration, the secretary brought applause with sharp attacks on the Democrats.

"The only brain throb the Democrats have had was to try to put this country on the edge. They have offered only criticism of President Hoover. The only program offered is President Hoover's. The Democrats have no program," the speaker said.

Hoover Only Way

Prolonged applause greeted the statement that "President Hoover is now recognized as the leader of world recovery."

A burst of laughter followed Hurley's opening shot at the Democrats. "The Democratic party owes a great deal to the great Jefferson, the gallant Jackson, the courageous Cleveland, the brilliant Wilson, Al Smith, Joseph Shouse and Will Rogers. Looking over its history, however, I don't believe the Democratic party has ever owed any one as much as it now owes John J. Raskob."

The committee approved June 14th as the date of the convention in Chicago and increased the number of delegates to 1154 as compared with 1000 in 1928.

Lonoke School Is Destroyed by Fire

Loss Estimated at $75,000; Building Will Be Rebuilt

LONOKE.—The main building of the Lonoke public schools was destroyed by fire originating on the second floor at 7 Tuesday. The building, said to have been the largest frame building in Arkansas, was valued at about $75,000. Insurance of $25,000 was carried. Origin of the fire was not determined.

The Lonoke Fire Department saved the gymnasium and the building used by the Primary Department. The building burned in less than an hour. It had been in use 31 years.

The School Board met at the office of President Charles A. Wells following the fire and decided that a new building to cost between $60,000 and $75,000 will be erected on the site of the old building during the summer, to be ready for occupancy by September 15, 1932.

During the remainder of the term, which will be resumed December 28, high school classes will be held in the Baptist church, with the fifth and sixth grades meeting at the Methodist church and the third and fourth grades at the Presbyterian church.

About 800 pupils are enrolled in the school, with 250 of them coming from rural communities. This was the third school building to burn in the same site.

All equipment, including a large library, was destroyed. More than 100 trophy cups, won by students in literary and athletic contests were lost. The old bell, in use about 50 years, went through its third fire. All school records were destroyed.

Mr. Walls said that the Lonoke School District was one of the few in the state to operate within its revenue and that it is free of debt, except for current expenses. J. J. Doane is superintendent of the Lonoke schools.

Going Home For Christmas

He little knows the gladness that his presence would have made, and the joy it would have given, or he never would have stayed. He didn't know how hungry had the little mother grown. Once again to see her boy and claim him for her own. He didn't guess the meaning of his visit Christmas Day. Or he never would have written that he couldn't get away. Are you going home for Christmas? Have you written you'll be there going home to kiss the mother and to show her that you care? Going home to greet the father in a way to make him glad? If you're not I hope there'll never come a time you'll wish you had. Just sit down and write a letter—it will make their heart-strings hum. With a tune of perfect gladness—if you'll tell them that you'll come. —E. A. Guss.

Killing Time in North Hempstead

Many Hops Killed in This Section During Past Two Weeks

"Killing time" is here again, in the north part of Hempstead county. Recently every farmer in this section has killed a hop. If not all of his hops, at least a part. This work has been done this week.

A great number of the farmers throughout this section killed hops during the week ending Tuesday. The hops began getting the cold treatment this week.

The killing season has been delayed about 10 days throughout this section on account of the warm weather.

Many of the farmers have had their hops so far enough to kill for several weeks and only waiting for suitable weather to slaughter them.

Across through the north part of the county have also killed calves recently. Much of this beef has been packed in pressure cookers.

Plane Sows Clover

MAXWELL, Cal.—An airplane has been hired by a ranch near this town to sow clover over 4000 acres of land. The seeding is purely an experiment to prove the value of clover in this connection. It is being watched closely by all stockmen. If it proves successful it will no doubt be adopted by many extensive land owners.

Tokio News Events

K. W. Harris of the Roy community was shopping in Tokio Friday.

Mrs. Robert Sanford is on the sick list this week.

J. T. Harris was a business visitor to Nashville Saturday.

The Len Bros. Show visited Tokio the last three nights of last week and everybody seemed to enjoy the pictures very much.

Tokio was visited by a mighty down-pour of rain Saturday night and Hickory creek and the Little Missouri river got real high.

Mrs. A. J. Blackwood is very sick at this writing and we are hoping she is much improved soon.

Walter Mauney of Murretsboro, was bird hunting in this part Saturday.

Amos Frazier of Roy, was in Tokio Saturday on business.

The citizens donated a day's gravel haul on the school bus line Saturday. The road as next thing to impassable.

A. C. Holt was a business visitor to Nashville Friday.

Edna Foley of Nashville visited home folks at this place Sunday.

Clyde Harper and B. J. Steen have returned home from West Texas, where they have been picking cotton.

Air Mail Increases

LONDON.—Airmail in England during the quarter ending September 30 increased nearly 10,000 pounds over the same period of last year, recent figures show. For the quarter ending September 30, 1931, air mail poundage was 34,061. For the same period of 1930 it was 26,248. The increase is about 2 per cent.

American Legion to Meet at Blevins

Out-Post Meeting to Be Held Thursday Night, December 17

The Leslie Huddleston Post of the American Legion will hold an out-post meeting on next Thursday night at Blevins, according to Post Commander J. L. Stringer.

Arrangements for this meeting are in charge of A. H. Wade of Blevins.

A large number of local Legionnaires are planning to go to Blevins. Mr. Stringer said, and all members and ex-service men of the county who can are urged to attend.

Oil Companies Agree to Hour Cut in Fields

AUSTIN.—(AP)—R. B. Gragg, state labor commissioner, reported Sunday that letters sent out by the department to Texas oil companies suggesting that as an aid to unemployment relief work days in the oil fields be reduced from 12 to eight hours, indicated that practically all of the major companies and most of the independents had agreed to such an arrangement.

Gragg made the request under instructions voted at Governor Sterling's conference on unemployment held here last October.

Whiteside Moves to Hot Springs

Former Blevins Pastor Is Transferred to Garland County Circuit

Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Whiteside and family moved to their new home at Hot Springs last week, where Rev. Mr. Whiteside goes as pastor of the Hot Springs circuit.

The Whiteside family moved to Blevins about 18 months ago. Mr. Whiteside accepting the pastorate of the Methodist church, following the resignation of Rev. J. A. Sage, who became ill.

Mr. Whiteside, however, was not a stranger to Blevins, having grown up in that community, but he had been away to school for a number of years.

During the time of Mr. Whiteside's residence in Blevins he was correspondent of the Hope Star. He gave much of his time to this work as well as to all other community projects, in connection with the church school and social life of this section.

Both he and his family will be missed in Blevins and his many friends wish for them every success in their new location.

Oil Drum Makes Good Brooder Stove

Home Made Stove Proves Successful in Brooding Young Poultry

An old 50-gallon oil drum can be used to a good advantage in making a brooder stove, states G. W. Knox, Extension poultryman, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture.

A foundation for this drum is made six bricks long by four and one-half bricks wide in a house 14 feet square. Set the foundation for the drum out four feet from the rear wall and divide the space equally on either side. This foundation should be built two bricks high. To get the oil drum in shape to make the brooder, mark off a door on one end of it. This door should be 12 by 14 inches. In the center of this space mark off a 4 by 6-inch space and cut it out, then split the corners out to the 12 by 14-inch space, bending these flanges out square with the end of the oil drum. On the rear of the top side cut out a space for a 6-inch stove pipe.

Set this drum in place in the brick frame, place the stove pipe with damper at the top of the rear of the drum. Brick up around the drum flange the brick flat; make the mortar joints 1/4 inch thick. Brick up the rear end and the front leaving a space for the door. Put two hangers in brick as they are built up, one on either side of door to hang the door on. Allow the brick and mortar to dry thoroughly before building a fire in it. Hang the door in place on the ranger.

Material required for brooder includes 1 oil drum, 50-gallon capacity; 165 bricks, stone may be used; 1 sack of cement, 25 pounds of lime, 1/2 yard of sand, 4 joints of 6-inch stove pipe, 1 roof flange, and 1 piece of sheet iron, 16 by 20 inches. Good green hardwood should be used as fuel.

This brooder if placed in a 14 by 14 foot brooder house will take care of 350 to 400 chicks.

THREE KINDS OF LOVE BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANNE, CECILY and MARY-FRANCES were sitting in the parlor, their grandparents, once wealthy, now so impoverished that Anne and Cecily were working in the household. The sisters have been orphaned since childhood. The grandparents are known respectably as "Auntie" and "Uncle" and they insist on keeping up pretenses of their former wealth.

Anne, 22, and Cecily, 22, do secretarial work and Mary-Frances, 18, is a student. When the story opens Anne has been engaged to PHILIP ECKROD, young lawyer, who is a cousin of Cecily's. Cecily, who is a student, is engaged to a doctor, but she is not sure if she will marry him. Mary-Frances, who is a student, is engaged to a doctor, but she is not sure if she will marry him.

Now go on with the story CHAPTER VII

For once compliments failed to mollify him. "I do try," Phil said, "but nothing ever works out for either of us, does it?"

IN the hall, where Anne could see his brown, he went on. "No. It seems to me that you and I are pushed about, constantly and regardless of our own inclinations, to the time of other people's whims."

"Not—not whims," said Anne.

Philip shrugged. She hated to see him shrug that way, pretending or, perhaps, actually signifying that nothing was of importance any longer. She began to talk rapidly. "Dear, dearest," she said, "I don't know, but I think most people's troubles are their own faults, unless we switch to the determinists and say that nothing is anyone's fault. I mean—if there is fault it must belong to each person's own self. I was thinking tonight, as I peeled the carrots, you are like the sun to my moon. And when you shine I can shine—reflected light, you know. And when things are all wrong, as they have been lately, and you are sort of hidden from me in the clouds, then I can't shine either. Only—it is more than my shining. Then I'm just not I at all. Nor anything—much. I'm gone."

"Which, resolved," said Philip Eckrod, dignified young lawyer, "puts all the blame at my door, all the time for not—how is it?—shining."

"No," said Anne desperately. "No. Phil dear, you are so clever and so wise and—I'm not. I shouldn't try similes—metaphors. They don't arrive. But, dear, if you'd try you could understand."

For once compliments failed to mollify him. "I do try," he said. "But nothing ever works out for either of us, does it?"

He hung up his hat again, and took off his raincoat again, and kicked his overshoes again—Phil never hurried. "I'm afraid," he said, as she looked at Cecily, pity and fear thumped together in Anne's mind. It was an intolerable fusion, and she rejected it, and tried to listen to Rosalie, who was telling the old May-day story, with Cecily substituted for the heroine in place of Anna.

"Our dear son John was working toward his doctor's degree, and he had accepted an assistant professorship—um—something of the sort, in Harvard that year. Cecily was not quite five years old, but she wrote me a letter. I treasure it yet. It said, 'Dear Rosalie: They made me Queen of the May at my school today. They did not make Father Queen of the May at his school. Your loving Ann.' Cecily, I mean. Fancy my saying 'Ann!'"

THE music room was lighted only with the piano lamp, and off in a shadowy corner Grand mercifully was dozing. Rosalie, with her back to the light, tossed Philip and Anne a contralto parenthesis and went right on being the alluring blood belle of South Carolina.

Ann glanced at Cecily and saw that Rosalie and her allure did not matter—that nothing much mattered. Cecily was glowing with a blurred radiance that Ann understood. It came along with love, at first, and it came because all outside things were blurred and softened and made beautiful—for the time being.

Cecily, now, could not see that Phil with his six feet and two inches towered above the shortish Mr. McKee. She could not see that Phil, with his smooth hair and his deep, dark-browed blue eyes, and his maturity and manliness, made Barry McKee look boyish and fragile and inadequate. In time, of course, things necessarily emerged from the haze and crystallized into clearly outlined duties, and practicalities, habits, and certainties. Marriage, Ann believed, made this emergence easy; totaling, as it went along, certainties, duties, habits, troubles, into a sum fine and noble, instead of confusing them into problems petty and quarrelsome.

Why this should be true, Ann did not know. Like many other practical persons she held hard to a few large reasonable faiths, and one of hers was that marriage in itself was the eternal panacea. For a moment, as she looked at Cecily, pity and fear thumped together in Anne's mind. It was an intolerable fusion, and she rejected it, and tried to listen to Rosalie, who was telling the old May-day story, with Cecily substituted for the heroine in place of Anna.

"He was a 'steenth cousin of somebody's, and we none of us understood how he got into our group at all. But there he was, and he liked us less than we liked him, and he complained about the coffee, and wouldn't help with any of the work. On Sunday evening I happened to be alone on the porch, and there was a glorious sunset doing marvelous purple things to the ocean. I called the others 'Come and see the ocean!' and they all came except this Mr. What-ever-his-name-was. I thought he hadn't heard me, he was in the dining room, so I ran in there and said again, mad with enthusiasm, 'Oh, Mr. So-and-so, come and see the ocean!' He sat stolid in his chair and put back his chin and said, 'I have 'eard the ocean.'"

Barry's laugh leaped out satisfactorily. But Phil looked bored, bored, bored.

"Did anyone ask him," Barry said, "about York Cathedral?"

Ann did not understand, but Phil opened his eyes wider and leaned forward. "Ah! You care for the Brontes?"

"Do I! Emily in particular. I've just been rereading . . ."

ANN soon stopped listening. She sat with a small smile fixed on her lips, and was glad that Phil was no longer bored, and that Cecily seemed to have read all the Bronte books, and that Rosalie had been lulled and was nodding in her heliotrope perfume. She had put on a lot of it tonight. Phil said that Rosalie was always ruthlessly perfumed. Poor Rosalie—she wore those heavy underarm dress shields, and they got sort of smelly, and that, probably, was why she used the perfume. It couldn't be told—like the advertisements. Poor Mr. Redfern—if he could afford to advertise—Business was so slack, right now. She must insist, tomorrow, that he write again to that man in Seattle. Phil's voice was going on and on. Was Phil, perhaps, doing more than his share of the talking? She listened.

"But see here," Barry interrupted. "My brief was for the stylis—modern, if you like, though Shakespeare."

"Shakespeare," Phil seized it, as if Barry had stolen it, and shook it at him, "Shakespeare . . ."

Underneath Phil's low rolling words, Cecily murmured to Ann, "Can't you stop him?"

That was too silly of Cecily. If she wanted anything stopped, why didn't she stop it? Stop her Barry, whose face was red and who looked almost angry. Phil was not angry at all. Phil was merely intense. He always grew intense when the subjects of sin and wickedness and sex came up. Phil, thanks to his mother's excellent training, was something of a Puritan, he said. Ann was glad of it. It made him clean minded, made him honor and respect women—except that—well, that other sort. And he pitied them, sincerely. He said that he did.

EVERYONE laughed but Phil, who could not be expected to laugh, since he had heard the story many times before.

Barry exclaimed pleasantly about little girls who went to school at four years old and wrote letters, and Rosalie began her interminable round of anecdotes concerning the three prodigies, the sisters Fenwick, and Phil sat, and was handsome, and looked bored, bored, bored.

For Phil's sake, and for Cecily's, too, Ann snatched the opportunity offered at the end of Rosalie's story about six-year-old Mary-Frances and her first view of the Pacific ocean ("I had understood," lisped Mary-Frances, as she turned away, "that it was much bigger than that") to tell about the funny man who had gone with them for the Labor Day party to Akate Beach.

Kentucky Miners Form Union, Strike Voted

PINEVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—About 250 Harlan and Bell county miners met here Sunday, formed a Kentucky district organization of the national miners union and voted to strike January 1, 1932.

Under resolutions adopted the strikers would demand $4.80 for top day men, $4.40 for helpers, $3.60 for unclassified labor, enforcement of the eight-hour day; re-employment of blacklisted miners, withdrawal of armed forces, and release of all miners in jail for union activities.

Gravity Altimeter

BERLIN—Of valuable assistance to pilots will be a new gravity controlled altimeter recently demonstrated at the Tempelhof airfield here. The instrument indicates the height of a plane from the ground, instead of above sea level, and will enable pilots to reckon more accurately their altitude above dangerous obstacles in the dark and fog. It was invented by an Austrian, Hans von Braun, and is operated by air pressure.

Gulf Sales Here Showing Good Gain

Hope Station Is Revealing Higher Monthly Average Than Last Year

From Main to Mexico, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf, and in a number of foreign countries, the Gulf Refining Company serves the motoring public.

They produce, refine and market their own products exclusively. They own and maintain the largest refinery in the world, at Port Arthur, Texas. It covers 3,736 acres and has a capacity of 150,000 barrels per day or 1 1/2 tank cars per minute.

They have seven other large refineries. Crude oil is transported to these refineries by pipe lines and ocean-going tankers. Gulf pipe lines total 7,200 miles. They have an 18-inch pipe line from their fields in Oklahoma and Kansas which supplies in part the Port Arthur refinery. They own and operate a fleet of 45 ocean going tanker boats and ships.

To deliver the finished product to distributing and retail stations throughout their large territory of 27 states, they operate some four or five thousand railroad tank cars and 2,200 motor trucks.

All these gathering, refining and distributing facilities are kept busy by the activities of Gulf Service Stations and dealers and by the Public demand for Gulf products.

The plant of the Gulf Refining Company in Hope, located on South Elm and 16th streets, was opened March 12, 1927, with a total of three customers. The sales that month amounted to 7,425 gallons. In December of that year their sales amounted to 34,100 gallons. In nine short months it had grown from a seven gallon business to a 34,000 gallon business. The best month was August, 1930, sales for that month amounting to 81,000 gallons. During that year they sold on an average of 58,150 gallons per month. This year, their sales have averaged 63,000 gallons per month, which is a nice gain over 1930.

At present, they have a total of about four hundred accounts and dealers, which represents thousands of satisfied users.

The local agent, M. S. Bates, says that the merits of the products, which are second to none, are not altogether responsible for the large volume of business which they are now enjoying, but that it is partly due to the untiring efforts of the Good Dealers and Service Station men they have located throughout the territory, who are

CHICAGO—A steam engine for use in airplanes is being developed by a local inventor. It is valveless, has no reciprocating parts and has no friction-producing bearings. It is said the engine is always in perfect running balance without use of counterweights and therefore vibrationless. It is said to be only two-thirds the weight of an ordinary gasoline engine used in planes.

ORDINANCE NO. 450

An Ordinance to be an Ordinance Entitled, an Ordinance to Prohibit Interference with the Fire Department when on route to or engaged in fighting a fire, and for the better protection of the property and lives of the inhabitants of the City of Hope, Arkansas, and for other purposes.

Be It Ordained by the City Council of the City of Hope, Arkansas.

Section 1: It shall be unlawful for any person driving and operating any motor vehicle to pass any fire truck when such truck is en route to a fire.

Section 2: It shall be unlawful for any person driving or operating a motor vehicle to follow any fire truck at a distance closer than 100 feet when such truck is en route to a fire.

Section 3: It shall be unlawful for any person driving and operating any motor vehicle to drive or park such motor vehicle closer than 200 yards to any fire.

Section 4: All the territory within a radius of 200 yards of any fire shall be designated as a fire zone, and the Hope Police of the regular Fire Department of the City of Hope, Arkansas, shall have full authority to direct traffic within said fire zone, and shall have authority to make arrests for the violation of this Ordinance within such fire zone. And the said Hope Police shall, also, have authority to direct traffic around such fire zone.

Section 5: Any person violating any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction in the Municipal Court shall be fined in any sum not less than $5.00 nor more than $50.00.

Section 6: All Ordinances and parts of Ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed, and this ordinance being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety of the inhabitants of the City of Hope, Arkansas, shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Passed and approved on this the 15th day of December, 1931.

ENGINEERING EFFICIENCY MAKES ELECTRICITY ECONOMICAL

Your Municipally Owned Electric Service branches out into all directions. A fine balance must be maintained to ensure that you and your neighbor enjoys its countless conveniences equally. Truly the democracy of electricity typifies this great nation. Like freedom of opportunity, it is equally available to all, ready to be used as each family or individual wishes to use it!

Your every waking and sleeping hour is influenced directly or indirectly by electricity. Nothing has done so much to bring this about as its low cost. Efficient engineers strive at all times to make that cost to you even lower—with higher standards of service, if that be possible.

"VALUE RECEIVED"

Of the many commodities purchased for the average home during the year's run, we believe NATURAL GAS offers the greatest value for money expended.

Its CLEANLINESS in the home and community—

Its EASY AND EXACT CONTROL—

Its INSTANT AND MAXIMUM HEAT, when and where wanted—

Keeping a CONSTANT, EVEN, HEALTHFUL room temperature—all of these qualities have a real tangible MONEY VALUE, but the actual cost of using NATURAL GAS in our community is so low, that no one need deny himself its benefits.

If used sensibly—for needs—not wasted—every NATURAL GAS bill can be truthfully endorsed—"Value Received!"
